SPRING / SUMMER 2008

As part of the community conservation project, "Wild Ammiq", A Rocha Lebanon is launching a new season of educational activities at the Aammiq wetland, West Bekaa for the spring and summer of 2008.

Education Activities

1. Hiking along the lower slopes of the Barouk ridge from Aammiq old village to the Aammiq wetland. (Arabic speaking guide only.)

The hike, along easy paths, starts at the unique abandoned village of Old Aammiq, a traditional stone village abandoned after the Earthquake in the 50's. The trek passes through cedar, pine and oak woodland and over a mountain stream. A local guide will interpret the natural history of the area including pointing out interesting birds and plants and mammal tracks and signs. While heading along the slopes above the wetland panoramic views reveal the Bekaa plain below.

Finishing at the wetland itself there is a chance to bird watch from a purpose built hide at Lebanon's most important site for biodiversity. As well as birds students may see turtles, snakes, lizards, butterflies, dragonflies.....

2. Activity day at the wetland. (English or Arabic presentation with Arabic and English speaking assistants)

The normal pattern of activities includes a presentation at the classroom facility at "Hawsh Aammiq" followed by "hands on activities" such as pond dipping, bird watching and bug collecting at the marshes. The visit supports national curriculum targets but is focussed much less on the learning of theory and much more on giving students an opportunity to experience something of the beauty and fragility of the wetland.

3. Tailor made activities

Special itineraries can be tailor made for educational and tourist groups including staying overnight with local families (local Bed & Breakfast,) a combination of hiking and bird watching while learning about local wildlife, rural traditions, landscapes and much more.....

Special rural lunches and evening meals also available.
