

Panel discussion

A Climate for Change: Conservation and Faith

Friday, 4 December 2015 – 3pm–4.30pm

Salle 7, Climate Generations Area, Paris–Le Bourget

(RER B – Le Bourget / Metro 7 – Fort d'Aubervilliers)

Shuttle buses will operate between both stations and the Le Bourget site.

More information is available at arocha.org/COP21

The climate is changing because of our actions, therefore our choices matter. We can choose to lessen our impact on the climate. We can choose to adapt to the effects. And we can choose the degree to which we will suffer.

How do we determine where to go with these choices? How do we determine what is too much suffering? How do we determine what is enough mitigation? How is it best to mobilize diverse coalitions based on common values?

Join us as we explore the synergies of faith and values and the choices we have as a faith community to respond to these issues.

Speakers:

Revd Dave Bookless

Director of Theology,
A Rocha International

Caroline Pomeroy

Director, Climate Stewards

Bishop Efraim Tenderso

Secretary General,
World Evangelical Alliance

A Rocha: arocha.org